1. In July and August 1947, meetings were held in Anerlugen (sic) near Feldkirch, Vorarlberg, with Ernst Fischer, Friedl Furnberg, and other members of the Communist Party Central Committee for the purpose of instruction and party planning. Members from France, Spain, and Switzerland attended the meetings. The plans which were developed provide for a Communist offensive to start in the fall with the following action:
- a. Strengthening of cells and factory organizations.
 - b. Stepped-up propaganda campaign.
 - c. Disruption of the Austrian economy and planning by means of Kompensationsgeschäfte.
 - d. Preparations for a general strike through local strikes and hunger demonstrations.
 - e. Exploitation of the land reform issue and of the workers' dissatisfaction with the Socialist Party.
 - f. Agitation for new elections.
 - g. Formation of an exile government supported by the Soviet Union and its satellites.
